ANNOUNCEMENT

Regarding the 2016 Proposed Final 303(d) List

The Tennessee Division of Water Resources has published a proposed final version of the 2016 303(d) List. The 303(d) List is required by the Federal Clean Water Act and is a compilation of the streams and reservoirs in Tennessee that violate one or more water quality standards. A public review of the draft was held in the summer of 2016 and ended in September. The new proposed final version has been modified based on the results of that review.

As a companion document, we developed a "Summary of Public Comments and Departmental Responses." The latter explains changes made or not made on the basis of comments received during the public participation period. Both documents have been posted on the Reports and Publications page on the TDEC website:

The Proposed Final Version of the 2016 303(d) List has been transmitted to EPA for their review and approval. Please feel free to forward this announcement to other groups or individuals who may be interested in these documents.
